

6-DAY PLAY THERAPY TRAINING COURSE (42 contact hours)

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Research suggests that Play Therapy is an effective mental health therapeutic approach that works best when significant others are actively involved in the treatment process. In this course, mental health practitioners would be equipped with the essential knowledge, principles of theories, skills and approaches which strengthen clients' self and the system around him/her.

The content of the course consists of the therapeutic power of play, developmental history of play therapy, prominent child development theories, effective play modalities, common themes in children's play, simple steps for setting up a play therapy room, comprehensive play-based assessment, case conceptualization, treatment planning, dimensions model for integrative practices and the Code of Ethics.

The comprehensive knowledge and skills acquired would lay a strong foundation for participants to start practicing play therapy and be able to integrate new learning in the future. Special focus will be on how to work with young clients and their family system. This 6-day course is suitable for those who are ready to use both individual and systemic intervention approaches.

Feedback from the previous class:

Very informative, the demonstration were valuable to me in my learning.

Detailed explanation and demonstration with updated learning materials (e.g. neuroscience)

It's a well organized and structural training.

Very good!!!! I want to learn more.

I think we should have more days!
Everything is good!

Thank you Clara for her teaching!
She inspired me a lot and unlocked the world of play therapy of me.

謝謝 Clara 用全副心機準備/教導, 並會用最實用/update 的知識
